He's working late at the Ration Board

There's one thing that's typically American. That's the family supper table, with dad serving and mom seeing that everyone gets enough to eat. Another thing that's typically American is the ability to pitch in when there's a job to be done.

And that's what Jim's doing!

He's putting in long hours at the local War Price and Rationing Board after he leaves his own job. It's late, he's tired, he's working without pay. Because he wants to do his bit to help everyone get a fair share of food and fuel and other rationed commodities. Because he figures he owes it to the boys next door (he's in uniform) and to his friends and neighbors.

Jim's a typical American. He doesn't get much applause. But he has one consolation — he's doing what he can to help his country. And Jim's wife, proud of his country, she — gives him your cooperation. Be patient. Make it easier for him. That's the best you can do.

HOW TO CURE A STICKY WAFFLE IRON

A waffle generally sticks because of improper preheating or insufficient shortening in the batter. When this happens, remove particles left on grid with wire brush. Then cover the grids with a thin film of salad oil or melted unsalted fat. Let grids heat until they smoke, pour batter and discard first waffle.

- Heat iron to right temperature before pouring batter.
- Wipe grids lightly with soft cloth or paper towel after each use. Don't wash grids.
- Visit iron with lid up—never while closed or grids will discolor.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, former feature editor of a North Carolina newspaper, has been inducted into the army and is near the end of his basic training at Fort Bragg. He has been classified as a cook and in addition his failure to master some of the fundamentals of army life have resulted in considerable extra KP duty. This he is thoroughly familiar with the Company kitchen and its workings. He has also learned the finer points of "goldbricking." He is editor of a section of the camp paper. As we pick up the story, Hargrove is entertaining "the Redhead" at dinner. She is having trouble getting the waiter to bring her a glass of water and Hargrove speaks:

CHAPTER XV

"Ahem," I said. He stopped humming a little tune with which he had engaged himself, and he looked at me with kindly curiosity. "Ahem," I repeated. "Are you the waiter with the water for my daughter?"

He turned on a tight, polite little smile. "The water, monsieur, will be forthcoming. I have sent my friend Charles for the water."

The Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor this afternoon came as stunning news to the men at Fort Bragg. There had been a rumor, one day a couple of months ago, that Germany had declared war on the United States to beat us to the draw, and since it was merely a rumor, there was no confirmation or denial over the radio all day long. That supposed news back then had been taken with a philosophic shrug and the thought, "Well, it's what we've been expecting."

This today caused a different war feeling. It was not what we had been expecting. To the soldiers here, whose only attention to the newspapers is a quick glance at the headlines, it was startling and dreadful.

The men who heard the news announcement over the radio this afternoon at the Service Club were, for the most part, new to the Army, with less than a month of training behind them. Their first feeling of outrage gave way to the awful fear that they would be sent away, green and untrained and helpless, within a week.

The rumor mill began operation immediately. New York and Fort Bragg will be bombed within the month, the rumors said. Probably, by that time, all of us will be in Hawaii or Russia or Persia or Africa. Green and untrained and helpless. This business of teaching a man for thirteen weeks in a replacement center will be dispensed with, now that war is upon us. You're a civilian one day and a rookie member of a seasoned fighting outfit the next.

Except for a few for whom the radio held a terrible fascination the men thought first of communicating with their families, their friends, their sweethearts. They immediately went for writing materials and for the two public telephones of the club. Almost all of the 64,000 men of Fort Bragg were trying to reach their homes through the eight trunk lines which ran out of the pitifully overburdened little telephone exchange in Fayetteville.

Miss Ethel Walker, who was acting as senior hostess for the Replacement Center's Service Club, had planned an entertainment program for the evening, but when she looked out at the tension in the social hall, she despaired. She telephoned her boss, Major Herston M. Cooper, the special services officer. "There's no use trying to put on the show tonight," she said. "I shall I cancel it. And may I turn off the radio?"

"If it's a good program, keep it," said the major. "And by all means leave the radio on. Just hang on; I'll be there in five minutes."

The major, a former criminologist and schoolteacher in Birmingham, was a lean and mischievous-looking infantry officer with a gift of gab and a camaraderie with the enlisted men. He wandered into the Service Club, noised it about that he was going to talk, and looked up the public address microphone.

"Here it comes," said an unhappy acting corporal. "Here comes the higher brass, to tell us the worst."

The major cleared his throat and looked over the crowd which gathered about him. "I know that this is your Service Club," he said, "and I'm a staff officer hanging in on you. Before I was an officer, I was an enlisted man. And, as an enlisted man, I've done more KP than any man in this room."

A line of the tension passed and the major leaned into one of his conveniently placed - minded families. "In fact, I used to KP every time they inspected my rifle. Couldn't keep the thing clean."

He paused. "The main thing that had us worrying this afternoon is the fact that we're being trained to protect. It's what they call the American Way and they call it with a capital W."

"I have my own ideas about the American Way. I think the American way is to show you boys when someone said without saying so that you could know what was to be done. It's shown to me that you boys don't do a thing without being told to do it. The way you do it is to be the best. The good will give you the American way and you can't find it anywhere but here. "You and I both, when we were called into the Army, brought our homes with us. We've been thinking less about war than about getting back home after a while—back to our girls and our wives and our civilian jobs."

"Well, we know now where we stand and we don't have to worry about whether we're in for a long stretch or a short vacation. That should be cleared up now. We know that we've got only one job now and we haven't time to worry about the one at home."

"You're worrying because you're not prepared soldiers, you're not ready to fight yet. When the time comes for you to go, you'll be ready. You'll have your fundamental training before you leave the Replacement Center."

"Spending your duty hours at work and your leisure hours at work?"

"As an enlisted man, I've done more KP than any man in this room," said the major.

—that's no good. That's what the enemy wants for you."

"I guess that's all, boys."

He turned to leave the microphone, but returned as if he had suddenly remembered something.

"The regular variety show will go on tonight at eight o'clock," he said.

They come and they go from the Replacement Center more quickly now, or perhaps it merely seems that they do. The training cycles have not been cut down much, but the turnover of men seems greater. Perhaps it's just that we notice the arrivals and departures more, now that war has given them grimness.

We call the train—the one that brings in recruits and takes out soldiers—the Shanghai Express. The term probably was used first by some disgruntled soldier who put into it the bitterness of a difficult transition from civilian to soldier. Now the term is used with a certain tender fondness by the permanent personnel of the Center, who watch the men come and go.

The melancholy moan of a train whistle is heard in the distance of the night and a sergeant clicks his teeth wistfully. "Here she comes, boys," he says. "Here comes the Shanghai Express." The sound of the whistle identifies all that touches the heart of a soldier.

There was a group of new men coming in this morning, down at the railroad siding. Their new uniforms hung strangely upon them, conspicuous and uncertain and uncomfortable—new uniforms on new soldiers.

They were frightened and ill at ease, these men. A week ago they had been civilians and the prospect of the Army had probably hung over some of them like a Damoclean sword. They had been told, by well-meaning friends, that the Army wouldn't be so bad once they got used to it. The Army will make you or break you, they had been told. The Army really isn't as bad as it's painted, they had heard. All of this, in a diabolically suggestive way, had opened conjectures to terrify the most indomitable.

This morning, they still hadn't had time to get over their fears. They still had no idea of what Army life was going to be like. Most of all and first of all, they wondered; "What sort of place is this we're coming into?"

The Replacement Center band, led by wizened little Master Sergeant Knowles, was there to greet them with a welcome that might dispel from them the feeling that they were cattle being shipped into the fort on consignment. First there were the conventional but stirring military marches, the "Caisson Song" and all the rest. And then there was a sly and corny rendition of the "Tiger Rag," a friendly musical wink that said, "Take it easy, brother."

Just as their arrival marks an emotional ebb, their departure is the flood tide. The men who came in a few weeks ago, green and terrified, leave now as soldiers. The corporal whom they dreaded then is now just a jerk who's bucking for sergeant. Although they are glad that they have been trained with other men on the same level here, the training center which was first a vast and awful place is now just a way—for rookies. They themselves have outgrown their kindergarten.

The band is at the railroad siding, this time to see them off with a flourish. They pay more attention to the band this time. They know the "Caisson Song." They know their own Replacement Center Marching Song, composed by one of their number, a quiet little ex-music teacher named Harvey Bosell. They hum the tune as they go aboard.

They see the commanding general standing on the side lines with his aide. He is no longer an ogre out of Washington who might, for all they know, have the power of life and death over them to administer it at a whim. He is the commanding general, a good soldier and a good fellow, and it was damned white of him to come down to see them off.

They board the train and they sit waiting for it to take them to their permanent Army post and their part in the war.

As a special favor and for old time's sake, the band swings slowly into the song that is the voice of their nostalgia, "The Sidewalks of New York," Yankee or Rebel, Minnesotan or Navadan, they love that song.

You can see their faces tightening a little, and a gentle melancholy look come into their eyes as the trombone wails beneath the current of the music. Their melancholy is melancholy with a shrug now. Home and whatever else was dearest to them a few months ago are still dear, but a soldier has to push them into the background when there's a war to be fought.

With the music still playing, the train pulls slowly out and Sergeant Knowles waves it goodbye with his baton.

An old sergeant, kept in the Replacement Center to train the men whose fathers fought with him a generation ago, stands on the side and watches them with a firm, proud look.

"Give 'em hell, boys," he shouts behind them. "Give 'em hell!"

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Stuffed Eggs Are Colorful in Spanish Sauce (See Recipes Below)

Point Wisdom

There should be some sort of an "E" award for the housewives who go about their business daily, keeping their homes in order and feeding their families nutritious, well-balanced meals in spite of high prices and hiked-up point values.

And to you ladies who rate or would rate the household "E" aren't you finding new respect for foods low in points or which require no points? I wager there's many an egg with a heart of gold that's come to your rescue and hitherto scorned fish that's made a hearty and delicious meal when points have been all used up.

Both eggs and fish are complete proteins, and they are just as important as meat in building and repairing body tissue which is necessary every day. Both can be combined into just as looked-for dishes as meat and cheese which are rationed.

A word of caution when you cook those precious eggs. Use low temperatures whether you fry, scramble, cook or bake them, otherwise you will have tough, leathery eggs. Cook them carefully, and ahl you will indeed discover how delightful they truly are. Use variety in serving eggs, too, and don't just go through the humdrum monotony of serving them plain boiled, scrambled or fried.

Spanish Eggs on Toast. (Serves 4)
8 stuffed egg halves
4 slices of toast
Spanish sauce

Lay slices of toast on bottom of baking dishes. Prepare Hot Stuffed eggs as suggested in following recipe and arrange eggs on top of toast. Pour hot Spanish sauce over and around eggs. Garnish with toast triangles. Serve at once.

Stuffed Eggs.
4 hard-cooked eggs
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper or cayenne
3 tablespoons salad dressing
1 teaspoon chopped parsley

Cut eggs in half lengthwise or crosswise. Remove yolks, press through sieve. Add seasonings and dressing. Beat until fluffy and refill egg whites. Top stuffed eggs with buttered crumbs and broil or bake in hot oven about 6 minutes or until crumbs are browned.

Spanish Sauce.
Prepare about 3 cups of your favorite tomato sauce and season rather highly. Add 2 tablespoons chopped onion and 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper at the last.

Eggs a la King. (Serves 3 to 4)
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour

Lynn Says:
Meat stretchers: Store and cook meat properly for greatest economy. Fresh meat is best stored if wiped with a damp cloth, covered loosely with waxed paper and stored in coldest part of refrigerator.

Variety meats, ground meats and fish should be used 24 hours after purchasing. Ground meat darkens if allowed to stand and spoils more quickly than whole cuts.

Frozen meat keeps indefinitely in the freezing unit. However, after thawing, it spoils more quickly than other meat and should be cooked immediately.

Cooked meats should be covered closely to prevent drying and stored in coldest part of refrigerator. Do not cut, grind or slice until ready to use.

Poultry should be cleaned and washed before refrigerating. It keeps better if stored whole rather than in pieces.

War Fund Reaches Goal

Mr. Smith, county chairman, announced the successful completion of the National War Fund campaign, stating that the campaign had reached the goal of $2,500 for Pocahontas county. Mr. Smith issued the following letter of appreciation to the citizens of Pocahontas county:

The National War Fund quota for Pocahontas county has been satisfied. I want to thank every one who has contributed to the success of our Armed Forces and the Associated Children sharing the burden of this war in any way possible, and especially those who worked so diligently to bring this campaign to a speedy end.

Pocahontas county has again shown its patriotism and loyalty.

Very sincerely,
HARPER M. SMITH,
Chairman, Pocahontas County War Fund Committee.

Pocahontas Wins Production "A" For Food Effort

For distinguished service in the production of food and feed during 1943 Pocahontas county has been chosen to receive the Agricultural Achievement "A" Award to be given by the War Food Administration at appropriate ceremonies tentatively scheduled to be held at the county seat by mid-December. J. Ward Wood, chairman of the West Virginia USDA War Board, announces, Barbours county also was similarly honored, Mr. Wood stated.

These counties were chosen for the citations by the War Food Administration from nominations submitted by the State War Board and the "A" award will be in honor of the efforts of all farm families within the counties. Comparable to the Army-Navy "E" award, the "A" award includes a flag and certificate of citation, which will be presented at the ceremonies, accompanied by a special message from President Roosevelt.

The flag has a green field or background, symbolic of agriculture, on which appears a blue "A" surrounded by a white wreath of a head of grain and a half gear wheel symbolizing the relationship of farms and industry in food production. A white star on the flag indicates a first-year award, and others may be added later for subsequent years if earned.

Army Will Participate

Representatives of the Army will participate in making the awards, Mr. Wood says, indicating recognition by the armed services of the efforts of farm people, and the award will be made somewhat like a military citation for gallantry.

In determining the counties to be given the awards the nominations by the State USDA War Board were based on the considered judgment of those familiar with the obstacles to be overcome and the accomplishments. Considerations included production records, improvements in production efficiency, fuller use of land and resources, and the overcoming of severe handicaps.

Details of the plans for the program in connection with the awards will be announced soon, Mr. Wood related. Local people in the counties to be honored are planning suitable celebrations for the occasions. In a sense, the awards are recognition of the efforts of all farm people in the state, he says, and all should feel they have a share in the honor.

Important Notice to Journal Readers

Since it has been our practice to be as straightforward and honest as possible in all our dealings with our patrons, and since this practice has never given us any cause for regret, the Journal editor unhesitatingly makes this present important statement for your information.

On August 31 the editor was notified to appear in Clarksburg for his screen test for induction into the armed forces of the nation. Until that time he had held a 4-D (minister's classification) rating, but it being obvious from all his Occupational Questionnaires which were filled as editor and publisher of a weekly newspaper, that he was no longer actively engaged in the ministry, the Local Board at Clarksburg where he is registered, felt that a change in classification was necessary; which was entirely right. A conference with the Board in relation to our business prompted them to refrain, however, from putting the editor into a 1-A group until December 7, 1943, to allow ample time for proper arrangements.

We have now been definitely notified by the Board that on December 7 we shall be put into Class 1-A and subject to immediate call in accordance with the rules, and without further screen tests. In face of the fact that the editor never has a really sick day, and knows of no other physical reason why he should not readily pass the required examination, it became necessary for us to consider the future of our publication.

Our first impulse was to suspend for the duration, which from every present financial aspect would be the most expedient course. Then we thought of all the hundreds of people here, and the several hundred men and women in service who have been so generous in their support of our publication, and this idea was cast aside. Our next impulse was to lease the Journal for the duration. But when we considered the possible misuse of our splendid mechanical equipment, and the possible damage to the prestige of our publication, should the lessee turn out to be the wrong kind of person, we also decided against leasing. Diligent effort to secure an all-around printer to work in the shop under the supervision of Mrs. Ferguson met with no satisfactory result. So we have now contracted for the only other alternative—to maintain an office in Marlinton for handling all news and business matters, and have the Journal printed elsewhere, to be shipped in to us on Thursday for distribution in the usual manner. Therefore, after this present issue, the printing of the Journal will be done in the shop of the Allegheny Publishers, Inc., of Covington, Va.

This contract had to be signed for one year, and the chance of our failure to be inducted was one which we had to hazard, due to the fact that no such last-minute arrangement was possible, and also because of the necessity for the editor to work along with Mrs. Ferguson under the new system for a time, and to fully acquaint her with the tasks which he has always performed, and which were outside of any previous experience she had had.

Our contract agreement has also necessitated certain changes which involve the paper itself. One of these is our inability to continue during this contract to furnish an eight-page paper. The four pages which we so proudly added more than a year ago, have cost between $30 and $40 monthly, depending upon the number of weeks in the month. To meet the terms of our present contract will require every bit of money which the paper will make, based upon figures for the last two years.

The contract also provides for the paper to reach us in Marlinton on the noon train Thursdays. This will permit Thursday afternoon delivery as usual in Marlinton, but will make the Journal reach all areas served by the train receive their papers on Friday, and areas which have no Friday service, will receive the paper on Saturday.

Also it will necessitate reception of all news releases, except some few of an emergency nature, at our office here not later than Monday, so that they may be forwarded to Covington on the Monday afternoon train, reaching there Tuesday and allowing ample time for preparation for publication.

We can foresee no other effect, and thus, to keep our faith with all of you, who have certainly been kind to us, we undertake what seems destined to be the non-profit publication of The Marlinton Journal for the duration. We shall continue, as we have in the past, to bring to you in the four pages which we do print, and which are all we have ever printed locally, the latest news of all the county, modernized styled; and we have retained from the printed service the weekly Sunday School Lesson, and the Household Memo.

Frankly, the newspaper industry is considered essential by the draft authorities, and the editor's position is one of the four essential classifications within the industry. But there is nothing automatic about exemptions. To be deferred, one must request it, and such request to me is an unthinkable way out of a tough business break.

This editor honestly states that he is not trying under the circumstances to appear heroic. And certainly, with everything we have worked for and saved invested here, we are in no position to be foolish. But this editor has spoken to people here and in widely scattered areas, and has emphasized duty to God and Country as equal obligations incumbent upon citizens of character. He still believes in religion and the principle of patriotism—even if it hurts him. He does not feel that he is one whit better or more preferable than the hundreds of others in this county, and the millions of others throughout the nation, who have found it necessary to forego plans, desires, and ambitions to try to do their part to bring this conflict to an end, and to establish the spirit of the Prince of Peace in the hearts of men everywhere. If it so happens that to meet his obligation the position which the editor occupies in serving so many of his fellow citizens through his publication, makes his acceptance of that obligation affect them too, that may be unfortunate. But he feels he has a right to believe and to expect that all of those so affected will accept the necessary results of such action in the same humble spirit in which he is trying to accept them.

AUBREY E. FERGUSON, Editor.

Ration Board Head Cites Changes

Important announcements concerning the rationing program were made public by E. H. Wade, chairman of the local War Price and Rationing Board, this week, as follows:

Gasoline

Effective December 1, all B and C gasoline books will contain fewer coupons but each coupon will be worth five gallons of gasoline.

While the change does not mean more gasoline for holders of supplemental gas ration books, it does mean that they will receive the rations in more convenient form. The new ration coupons of five gallons value will be issued with the designation of B-2 or C-2 on their face. As present B and C and B-1 and C-1 coupons run out, they will be replaced by the new higher-unit value coupons. In the meantime, outstanding coupons issued before December 1 will continue to be worth only two gallons in all counties of West Virginia.

Thanksgiving Dinner Prices

Restaurants may increase the price of Thanksgiving dinner 15 per cent over their ceiling price for a "comparable" Sunday dinner, if it has always been the restaurant's custom to charge a higher price for the holiday meal. The increase will also be permitted for similar dinners served on Christmas Day, New Year's Eve, New Year's Day, and Easter Sunday.

Discard Ration Book 1

There will be no further use for Ration Book No. 1, after holders have used the No. 18 shoe stamp. War Book No. 2 also may now be discarded, since it expired November 20.

N. R. Price, Jr., Writes His Outfit is "On the Move"

A recent letter from Sergt. Norman R. Price, Jr., who has spent 23 months in the Asiatic section of the war, relates that his outfit of the Air Corps moved from its former base on the border of Burma. Judging from a change in post office, he is now presumably in the Eastern Mediterranean area. He states most of the outfit had their baggage, including personal belongings, and in traveling light. Price also told of having been through an earthquake of considerable violence, but stated the Army sustained little damage, as it had nothing to shake down except tents and great beds. Sergt. Price says that when the Army left San Francisco in January, 1942, he expected to see the Pacific that they would be seen for the first time on the trip. It seemed like an exaggeration to most of that time, but now he thinks his estimate may not be far wrong.

IT Impresses ME

THAT two of our little girl friends up Dunmore way acted just the same way that we would under similar circumstances... Little Mary Frances and Edna Miller, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, making their way home the other evening came full upon a large bear at the north end of what is called Flatwoods... And they lost no time getting back where they started from... The bear was walking, they said, on its hind feet, and was tail as a man... Charles and Orville Miller later armed themselves and started out in search of it, but found only the animal's tracks... Maybe the little Millers also scared it, huh?

A modern young girl, reproved for "man-chasing" was asked if she was worrying about dying an old maid... She answered, "No, it's living that way I'm worrying about!"

DELICACY... Pecan squares made the way Mrs. Dick McNeel makes 'em...

WE'VE received many and varied baby announcements, but the one for little Louella Lexie Eades, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eades, of Charleston, "takes the cake"... Modernly fashioned in the form of a ration book, it describes the baby, and contains stamps entitling it consecutively to: "Diaper — Orange Juice — Diaper — Cod Liver Oil — Bib — Diaper — 2 a. m. Feed — Floor Walking — Diaper — More Floor Walk — Where Is That Bottle? — More! — Orange Juice — Bottle — Diaper — Better Buy a Cow! — Bottle — One Long Yell — Damn Diaper! — Orange Juice — Bottle — Help! — Vulcanize Pants — 3 Safety Pins — What, Again!"

"TAKE out a life insurance policy. One of our customers broke her arm the other day and we paid her $500. You may be the lucky one tomorrow" — (From an ad in a Kansas City paper)

THE Great Gildersleeve took his cue for a recent broadcast from Layman Davis, local hunter... In company with Bob McComb, Layman went rabbit hunting last week... Getting one up, Davis took careful aim and pulled the trigger... Only to find, as Gildersleeve said, that "A good hunter never keeps his gun loaded!... Click!..."

A sure cure for hunger... A portion of warm salt rising bread from a loaf baked by Mrs. E. S. Clutter of Hillsboro...

THE visit of our two sisters last week-end was the occasion for much foolishness and merriment... My older sis, with a Navy son, must constantly be restrained from approaching strange sailors, because she wants to inquire of each one if he knows her boy... It's unthinkable that they should not know the most important sailor in the fleets!... And I promised my younger sis that I would be glad to explain that her limp was occasioned by a back ailment, and not by too-tight shoes worn to give the impression she had small feet... Residing where they have access to larger shopping areas, the girls found long-wanted articles in the People's Store, Richardson's, and Lang's Dress Shops... And they left with the expressed confirmation of all we have been saying about the friendliness of our Pocahontas county neighbors...

Archery Experts on Lookout For Deer at Watoga Park

Sixteen permits had been issued to bow and arrow deer hunters at Watoga State Park at the time of a Journal check-up with Park officials late Tuesday evening. Several more were expected to arrive during the Thanksgiving holiday period. No deer had been killed at that time by the amateur hunters, but it was expected that an organized hunting had not been attempted. A drive was planned for Wednesday, a Park spokesman said.

The reason for bow and arrow deer hunting in the State Park opened on November 23, and will close on the 27th. Watoga State Park will also be opened for deer hunting during the regular season next week, so that 75 permits have been killed.

Man Found Dead; No Relatives Located

A man identified from personal effects as Claude A. Saunders, was found dead along the road near Seneca State Park on November 17. The deceased man was believed to be between 65 and 70 years of age, was 5 ft. 8 in. tall, and weighed about 160 pounds. He wore glasses, had no teeth, and apparently was the owner of two suit cases which were found beside his body along the Brown's Creek road.

Belongings also indicated that Mr. Saunders was an ordained minister in the Free Will Baptist denomination. His body was interred Sunday morning in the Mountain View Cemetery, and efforts to date have not resulted in the discovery of his relatives. Persons who may be in possession of any information concerning the dead man's kin, or any relatives who become apprised of his death, are asked to contact the local state police.

CROPS:

Weather Helps

Profiting from favorable weather, the 1943 corn crop was estimated at 3 billion, 85 million bushels by the department of agriculture on the basis of conditions November 1. This compared with last year's record crop of 3 billion, 175 million bushels.

With October weather good and without widespread frosts, the large acreage of late corn reached maturity in Iowa, Missouri, northwestern Ohio, and parts of Michigan and Indiana.

Other crop estimates for 1943: Wheat, 835,816,000 bushels; oats, 1,148,652,000; barley, 330,212,000; rye, 33,314,000; flaxseed, 51,486,000; soy beans, 206,017,000; rice, 69,019,000; potatoes, 469,092,000; sugar beets, 7,239,000 tons, and peanuts, 2,681,955,000 pounds—record highs for rice, potatoes and peanuts.

Chicago's sprawling stockyards teemed with over 60,000 live hogs after a high three-day shipment of 129,500 head, which compared with 85,552 for the previous week and 66,418 for the same period of 1942.

As a result, packers paid the "floor" of $13.75 for only the heavier weights out of the 200 to 275 pound range on which the government has pledged price support.

So called "floor" prices were high on the flooded market, equalling the lowest tops since last December.

Southwest Pacific: At Japs' Rear Pursuing his policy of pinching off Japanese strongholds in the Southwest Pacific by cutting off their communications, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has established U. S. forces to the rear of the enemy's important forward base of Buin on Bougainville island in the Solomons.

With U. S. marines and doughboys standing astride the Japs' communication lines leading to Buin, they were in position to strike against the enemy supplies, and his main body from the rear.

Bougainville is the Japs' last important holding in the Solomons, and apparently they were determined to take advantage of the wild nature of the humid, tropical isle for another long, delaying action.

U. S. CASUALTIES: Total 120,967 U. S. casualties totaled 120,967 for almost two years of war, with the army reporting 82,648, and the navy 38,319.

Of the army casualties, 12,841 were killed, 30,263 wounded, 29,923 missing and 19,613 prisoners. Since the landing at Salerno, September 7, the U. S. suffered 2,206 casualties in Italy, with 1,209 killed, 1,784 wounded and 2,053 missing.

RUSSIA:

Attack Last Railroad

Russia's last north-south railway came under the attack of Red troops as they pressed forward on a 70-mile front west of recaptured Kiev. As the Russians drove against the railroad, other forces of their army continued attacks on Nevel, less than 50 miles from the Latvian border in the north, and on Krivoi Rog in the south.

At Krivoi Rog, the Germans continued to hold open an escape corridor for the last columns of Nazi forces pulling out of the huge bend of the Dnieper river, where early Russian attacks had threatened them with encirclement.

Crossing into the eastern Crimea from the Caucasus, strong Russian forces drew up for a major attack on the 75,000 German troops reportedly massed in the huge peninsula, guarding the Black sea. The Nazis held their ground at the north entrance to the Crimea.

TIGHTNESS in the civilian tire supply will prevail because of military requirements, scarcity of manpower to operate fabricating equipment, reduction in the peace time inventory of tires, shortage of rayon cord for heavy duty tires, and the cut in crude rubber imports.

To obtain maximum use of present tires, the rubber manufacturers' committee counseled drivers to preserve their tire carcasses, or bodies, for recapping by protecting the walls and not running down treads. Further, the committee advised low speeds, adequate air for tubes, and proper alignment for wheels and axles.

Homemade Penicillin One of medicine's most precious cures, magical penicillin, is being produced at "five cents a plateful" by Dr. Julius A. Vogel in the kitchen of his Pittsburgh, Pa., residence. Properly equipped, any doctor can grow his own supply, Dr. Vogel says.

Plant physician for the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation, Vogel has used his penicillin to treat external infections, with complete cures effected in more than a score of cases.

CHILD DELINQUENCY: Supervision Needed During the last year, delinquency among girls has increased 38 per cent and among boys 11 per cent, Katherine Lenroot, chief of the children's bureau of the department of labor, declared.

With 5 1/2 million women with children under 14 years of age working, and many fathers in service or sleeping days, a general weakening in home supervision is a contributing cause for the delinquency, Miss Lenroot said. More than one million more women will be needed in industry this year, she reported.

Other factors of delinquency, Miss Lenroot asserted, are lack of school facilities in war-expanded communities, and the increase in child labor to five million this year.

"There would be little juvenile delinquency today if children were treated as much of an emergency as armament production," Miss Lenroot concluded.

LEND-LEASE: British Aid Up to last June 30, British lend-lease assistance to the U. S. totaled $71 million dollars, of which the major share consisted in supplying base facilities, barracks and hospitals for American land and air forces in the United Kingdom.

Incomplete figures indicated assistance to date has topped one billion dollars. Not included in the accounting, the British said, was the cost of food furnished on the fighting fronts where no adequate records could be kept, and the value of information and experience gained in battle and relayed to the U. S. army and industry.

The British assistance does not include lend-lease granted the U. S. by Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India, who operate under separate agreements. On August 23, President Roosevelt reported U. S. lend-lease assistance to Britain alone totaled nearly $4 billion dollars.

BUILDING In the first 18 months after the final armistice there will be five and a quarter billion dollars spent on public construction, according to a survey of the nation's building needs. About $4 billion will be expended annually between 1947 and 1951, the report estimates.

Residential building will reach the high point before 1948, and dip to a low in the middle thirties. Commercial, industrial and community buildings will show a slight decline in the next two years.

Hutchings, who is the author of "A Psychiatric Word Book" published by the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene and now in its seventh edition.

This is not a book for laymen but it is exceedingly interesting to scan its pages just to see how ordinary words can achieve new meanings as new thoughts about new things develop. The word book is invaluable to the doctor and many others who will be more and more concerned with this important study of interpersonal relations—psychiatry.

Let's take a layman's look at the pages of the little pocket volume. Starting at the beginning with "a-an." Not the simple articles they look! The definition is not new in this case but shows the special meaning the person who reads psychiatry must know. The definition reads:

"Prefix derived from the Greek and having the same meaning as the prefix un- or the suffix -less. Without; absence of; not. Cf. amnesia, anosmia."

That takes us to amnesia which means (1) absence of intellect; (2) a state of mind bordering on stupor; (3) feeble-mindedness.

You have heard of behavior but what is behaviorism? It is "the psychological theory which holds that correct conclusions in psychology must rest upon objective study and interpretation of behavior."

You have also heard of conversion. Here is the psychiatrist's meaning of it. "The process by which an emotional trauma (that is an emotional 'wound') after repression becomes converted into a physical symptom in hysteria."

Practical Application If you think that sounds too high brow, just recall the remark: "He's had that squint ever since he saw that terrible accident."

There are a lot more interesting new meanings clear over to the last word "zoopsia" which you know all about if you ever saw "Ten Nights in a Barroom," the great prohibition play. "Zoopsia" is what we (incorrectly) call "D.T.'s." The definition is "a visual hallucination of animals or insects."

The little book also has an appendix in which there are careful and more detailed descriptions of the emotions—anxiety, fear, pride, vanity, etc., which we now know are as dangerous to our mental health when they get out of control as a flock of flu germs are to our bodily welfare.

I'll give you a definition of the one emotion which is highly important because when it gets the upper hand in politics, it can do as much harm to a form of government as to an individual.

"Egoism and egotism are not synonyms. Egoism is a self-seeking desire to gain advantages at the expense of the rights, convenience or possessions of others. It is essentially antisocial. Egotism is overvaluation of self, one's opinions, ability or cleverness and corresponding undervaluation of others."

Now, just apply that definition of egoism to blocs, political parties, nations and you'll see why psychiatry is important in the new world. The more people who understand it, the more people will understand each other.

The words in "A Psychiatric Word Book" are important words. ($1 postpaid from the Hospitals Press, Mental Hygiene Department, State of New York, Utica, N. Y.)

Popular Questions Here are answers to three questions I was asked most frequently on a recent trip to the Middle West:

(1) When will the war be over? I don't know. I wouldn't be surprised if Germany cracked inside this winter. At least another year to clean up Japan.

(2) What about international cooperation afterward? I don't know. The feeling I get in Washington is that there will be an honest attempt to form an international league, just as it is suggested in the Moscow conference.

(3) Will President Roosevelt run for a fourth term? I doubt if even he knows that either. He probably will unless the war is done and over.

CENTRAL GOVERNMENT IN THE UNITED STATES... FOR SOME 150 YEARS we Americans have thought of government as that of our town, our county, or our state.

It was the local and state governments, not Washington, that enacted and enforced the laws that affected us as individuals. That it should be so was decided in that historic controversy between Jefferson and Hamilton during the two terms Washington served as the nation's first President.

That was for the first 150 years only. Today Washington is no longer a governmental side show. It has become the "big top" with Hamiltonian policies dominating. Our state, county and town governments have largely become useless appendages. We are directed and regulated by the federal government.

What some of these are a result of the wartime emergency many were in effect before Pearl Harbor and will continue when the war is over. They represent a new conception of government to which we have not become accustomed.

To get us back to those days of Jeffersonian local self government, to get us away from the Hamiltonian policies, to re-establish the place of the state, the county and the town, depends, not upon whom we elect as governor of the state, as sheriff of the county or mayor of the town, but upon the men we Americans collectively send to Washington as congressmen and senators. They are today the important cogs in our governmental machinery.

SELFISHNESS AND THE WAR EFFORT

THE WAR has not cured us of what has become a dominant American trait, selfishness. We are, each of us, for an all-out war effort as the part of the other fellow. When it comes to government handouts we are opposed to all except those that benefit us as individuals, our group or our section.

The public believes that oil is bountiful compared with coal, and OPA is now besieged with applications for reconversion from coal to oil. These applications are being resisted, since the impression of abundance of oil is merely an illusion.

GOOD WORD ON EGGS

If you like eggs—fried, scrambled, or Easter—this may interest you. The high price of eggs will soon come tumbling down. This Humpty-Dumpty event will be brought about by the sale of five million cases of government eggs.

War Food administration, responding to the prodding of critics, admits that it was putting too many eggs in one basket, for military and lend-lease requirements, at the expense of civilian requirements.

Release of this tremendous quantity of eggs won't alarm the housewife, but worries War Food experts because it might discourage production for next year.

Meantime, War Food and OPA are rowing over the price to be paid for these five million cans of cold storage eggs. WFA officials, protecting the producers, want a higher price for cold storage eggs than fresh eggs.

OPA, thinking of the housewife, says: "This is the first time we ever heard that eggs become more valuable as they get older!"

But War Food stands firm on the principle that the old eggs should bring more money. Their reason is that the old eggs were stored by dealers who were playing the usual seasonal game of holding for a rise in price, without realizing that the government was going to step in and take over at the fixed price.

In other words, War Food experts are trying to hand dealers some of the speculative profit they might have gotten, while OPA—trying to protect the consumer—wants to hold the price down.

The inside government egg debate is still raging.

COLD WINTER AHEAD

Whatever you burn this winter—oil or coal—it is still going to be cold.

The public has the impression that it is only coal which is short now. Actually, oil is even shorter, rationed for this winter being based on a 34 per cent cut below pre-war consumption.

The fuel situation is so bad that OPA experts several months ago recommended coupon rationing of coal. A warm debate followed between OPA and the Solid Fuel Coordinator, in which Ickes, supported by the coal industry, opposed rationing.

But OPA experts believed coal would be short this winter and, during the summer, laid plans for coupon rationing. In August, they were all ready to go to press with millions of coupon books.

Finally, however, the coal coordinator vetoed the plan. Now it is too late to impose coupon rationing—partly because there is not sufficient time to print the coupons and give out instructions to local boards; also because some coal is already supposed to be distributed—iniquitably—to consumers.

Thus we shall have to rely on "dealer rationing." This does not limit consumption—only strings out the supply in dribbles, making a greater delivery task without decreasing consumption.

The public believes that oil is bountiful compared with coal, and OPA is now besieged with applications for reconversion from coal to oil. These applications are being resisted, since the impression of abundance of oil is merely an illusion.

FEWER TIRES FOR ALLIES

One thing not discussed at the Moscow conference was rubber tires. If the question had been raised, Russia would have been told that tires on Lend-Lease will have to be reduced sharply.

Reason is that U. S. trucks and buses are wearing their tires down to the fabric, and Jesse Jones' long hallowed synthetic tires are falling behind schedule. There is plenty of new rubber, but a dire lag in tire production.

Meanwhile, bus and truck transportation has never been more vital. Last year inter-city buses carried more passengers than the railroads (590 million compared with 699 million), though they travelled fewer miles.

If they are crippled, the weight would be thrown back on the already struggling railroads. Also, many places would be without transportation, since 54,000 communities have no rail service.

The army, OPA, ODT and the rubber director's office are putting their heads together to find a way out. One solution will be a reduction of tires shipped on Lend-Lease. Russia alone was promised 500,000 this year, in addition to 2,900,000 already delivered.

Thanksgiving!

Traditional Thanksgiving turkey may this year give way to roast chicken, but the feast can have all the spirit of those you have had in former years.

Though your meal may be less elaborate, every food can be done to a turn, the frills may be just as interesting, and your thanks can rise to a new height.

Let the charm of your dinner lie in its simplicity. Get the most out of your food and prepare it to deliciousness. The same vegetables that you had with turkey can go with chicken—if turnip purfs or corn pudding or squash or sweet potato and apples are a tradition in your family.

Prepare your chicken with the same care you would give turkey and it will look as nice and taste just wonderful. It's easy enough to truss chicken properly so that it will look nice. Here's one way of doing it:

Trussing Chicken.

Insert trussing needle through body of chicken below knee joint and pull cord through; continue cord through wings. Tie tightly to hold wings close to body. Stuff neck opening of chicken with stuffing and tuck neck skin under cord. Use another piece of cord, and insert needle through legs' rear joint. Stuff body cavity and truss opening with truss pins or cord. Draw cord from legs around tail piece and tie legs down close to body.

The stuffing is just as important as the chicken itself. Have it not too soggy, not too dry, and well seasoned:

*Celery Stuffing.

- 1 cup finely chopped celery
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon butter or fat
1/2 teaspoon marjoram
1/2 teaspoon celery seed
Salt and pepper
Water or stock
2 1/2 cups bread crumbs

Cook celery onion and parsley in fat for a few minutes. Add other ingredients with enough liquid to hold together and make dressing slightly moist.

*Roast Chicken.

- 4 to 5 pound roasting chicken
Salt (1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon per pound)
Stuffing
Melted fat

Singe chicken, clean, wash and dry. Rub inside with salt. Stuff lightly with celery stuffing and truss. Rub surface with unsalted fat. Place on rack in an uncovered roaster, breast up. Cover with layer of fat from body of chicken, then with a clean cloth dipped into melted, unsalted fat. Roast, uncovered, in a slow oven (300 degrees) until tender, basting occasionally with drippings. Season with additional salt when half done.

Remove cloth near end of roasting period and allow to brown. A chicken weighing 4 to 5 pounds requires 30 to 35 minutes per pound to roast. A smaller chicken 40 to 45 minutes per pound.

Conserving Fuel: You'll not only be saving on your own fuel bills but also co-operating with government requests if you save on cooking heat. Here's how:

When using oven, plan to cook several items in it at once. Meat and vegetables, and even hot bread and dessert can all be cooked in oven. It's poor economy to use both oven and surface heat to get a dinner together.

Food should be ready for oven at the same time oven is correct temperature. Do not keep opening oven door to see "how things are coming along."

Thanksgiving dinner:

- *Cranberry Sauce.
3 cups cranberries
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 cup hot water

Put berries, sugar and water into a saucepan and let stand for 5 minutes. Then cook 5 minutes. Remove from range and let stand 5 minutes, then cook for another 5 minutes. Cool and serve with roast fowl.

Now, for the vegetables. You will probably have several kinds in mind such as:

*Baked Sweet Potatoes and Apples. (Serves 4)

- 2 large tart apples
2 large cooked sweet potatoes
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons margarine
1/4 cup corn or maple syrup

Core, pare and cut apples in slices. Sauté each slice in margarine until nearly soft, browning the pieces thoroughly. Cut potatoes into rather thick slices, sprinkle with salt and place a slice of fried apple on the side of each potato. Arrange in a shallow baking dish, pour syrup over all, dot with butter. Bake 1/2 hour in a moderate oven until potato absorbs syrup.

*Two-Hour Rolls. (Makes 12 to 16 rolls)

- 1 yeast cake
1/2 cup lukewarm water
3 cups all-purpose flour, sifted
1 level tablespoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 heaping tablespoons lard
1/2 cup milk

Dissolve yeast cake in lukewarm water. Mix dry ingredients, working in lard as for pie crust. Add milk and yeast mixture to make dough. Turn onto a floured board and knead well. Roll and cut into any shape. Let rise 2 hours. Bake 20 minutes in a hot oven (425 degrees).

Your choice for dessert may be a pumpkin pie, or perhaps an old-fashioned steamed pudding with lemon sauce:

Steamed Pudding. (Serves 6)

- 1 cup bread crumbs
1/2 cup sour milk
1/4 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Soften bread crumbs in sour milk. Cream shortening and sugar until fluffy. Add vanilla and blend. Beat egg and combine with milk and crumbs, then add to first mixture. Sift dry ingredients and spices, add raisins and nuts and combine with first mixture. Steam for 1 hour in a greased mold.

WE ARE now moving into a rather strange, weird and complicated sporting world.

Many of the stronger college football teams of October are only remnants in November.

Star after star, singly and in groups, is heading now for Parris Island, a big marine base, or some other service center.

You could recruit a football team at Parris Island that would be unbeatable, given just a little time.

At the same time the draft is moving in on big league baseball.

Consider the Yankees alone. Spud Chandler, their star pitcher, is on his way out, unless he is 4-F, which Spud isn't. Under the rules, Spud is 1-A.

Charlie ("King Kong") Keller, their home run hitter, is waiting his 1-A test. Keller is no 4-F. Nor a 2-A.

Joe Gordon, their feature second baseman, has had over 100 hours in the air—and he can't miss.

If Chandler, Keller and Gordon are not fit for service work we must have the super-army of all time. They happen to be three of the finest all-around athletes I've ever known on one ball club.

I happen to know that Bill Dickey, their veteran catcher, a first class flier, too old for any combat flying at 36, would like to get an instructor's flying job.

This same condition must apply to other teams. If the war remains tough or gets tougher, the call on sport will be even louder than it has been so far. And the call has been heavy.

Shifting Tides

In many cases football stars, playing at one college in October, are playing with rivals now.

Tides are shifting back and forth faster than the human eye can follow.

Is a team to be rated on its September and October form before the blast arrived, or is it to be rated on its November showing down the stretch?

In the past few weeks hundreds of good football players have been called away from teams scattered all over the national terrain.

There are some good teams left. In any event the balance of power is more evenly distributed.

Army and Navy are able to complete their season without any deficits in material.

We are not yet certain whether there will be further shifts from time to time, extending through December.

This, of course, would throw the various bowl situations into something approaching a tangle, if not a turmoil.

But there are still many rougher things happening in this war.

All-Star Selections

Those attempting to pick All-Star or All-American combinations also find themselves wading into the quicksands.

How many games would a star have to play before he could be properly named?

It is certainly not the player's fault that he can't finish his football work.

To help complicate matters, the waning season has been loaded with stars—such backs as Daley, Bertelli, Davis, Hamburg, Steuber, Kane, Odell, Graham, McCordie, Podesta, Dark, Miller, Hirsch, Prokop, Field and others, from Duke, North Carolina, Purdue, Ohio State, Dartmouth, Washington, etc.

There will be no lack of fine material from which to make selections, but some of these who might belong have only played in one or two big games.

At least all this will help to keep the debaters busy when "the ways are heavy with mire and rut."

The Old Grad had been a trifle dazed all season. Events have had him trying to face three or four directions in the same split second.

For example, we have Minnesota rooters pulling hard for Daley, who helped Michigan wreck Minnesota. Under such conditions you can't very well blame the Old Grad from feeling just a bit curious in the cups.

For all of these expected and justified handicaps it has been an interesting season and there are still some good games on the docket before the season ends.

About Bob Odell

Miller, Bertelli, Davis and Daley, among others, are all great backs. Bertelli and Miller have been the most valuable pair of the year.

But Bob Odell, younger brother of the Yale coach, is my pick. Odell, on the offensive side, is a fine, fast runner and a fine pass receiver.

But in addition, he is the best, or one of the best, blocking backs in the country and one of the hardest, surliest tacklers—one of the best defensive men I've seen.

Thursday afternoon when two Navy training planes circled over the village a time or two and landed in the large Moorman meadow back of the high school building. School was being dismissed at the time and children vied with teachers in getting across the field for first-hand information. Old men and housewives halted passing cars and hurried to the scene—men who had crept at small's pace and who had been old for years perked up in spirit and trooped across the field like 6-year-olds. But as soon as the fliers got their bearings they were up and away without telling the curious crowd from whence they came or whether they were going—and (I was right there too, Ma!)

High Temperatures Shrink Meat More

By ESTHER N. LA ROSE
Home Demonstration Agent

Point-free, no wonder poultry is high in demand this year—turkey, chicken and duck, even to the wild game birds which frequent Pocahontas county. It's one thing not to waste a bit of the meat directly, and another to prepare it so that you get the most servings out of it per pound.

To conserve food, and fuel, roast a bird in a moderate oven—from start to finish. For a 10 to 12-lb. turkey that means 300 degrees, for 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 hours. For chicken or duck heat your oven to 350 degrees. You can use more heat for these smaller fowls, 5 or 6 pounds, because they cook through more quickly. A chicken this size will cook in 1 1/2 to 2 hours; a duck, from 2 to 2 1/2 hours.

Cooking meat of any kind at high temperatures causes undue shrinkage and impairs flavor.

Save all meat, bones, fat, skin, stuffing, and gravy to get full flavor from the bird. Serve chopped leftover poultry meat, creamed and hot, on toast, as a pie topped with biscuit rounds, or with mashed potato, rice, noodles, or spaghetti. For chicken or turkey a la king, give it a richer sauce by adding egg yolks, and perhaps mushrooms and leftover peas.

TO YOUR Good Health

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

GALL BLADDER

If an individual does considerable belching, has occasional sharp pains in upper right hand side of abdomen, and at times his skin shows a yellow tinge, his, or more often her, physician suspects liver and gall bladder disturbance. He may have tests made of the ability of the liver to filter out poisons or harmful substances from the blood, and an X-ray of the gall bladder to show its shape, presence of stones, and ability to empty its bile into the small intestine.

Dr. Barton

The liver is the largest organ in the body and can lose many of its cells and be damaged to a considerable extent without endangering the life of the individual.

The gall bladder which holds about two ounces of concentrated bile can be distended so that it holds almost a pint of bile diluted with a saline or salt solution.

Generally speaking, as practically two of every three middle-aged or elderly individuals have some disturbance of liver and gall bladder, the need for operation of any kind does not include a large percentage of this number. It is severe pain in the region of the gall bladder, or the intense pain of gall stone colic, caused by a gall stone trying to pass through a small tube or duct, that calls for consideration as to the need for operation.

In the Canadian Medical Association Journal, Dr. L. C. McCabe, Windsor, Ontario, states:

"While I would urge most emphatically the importance of operating early in the course of chronic gall bladder disease, I should like to sound a warning against operating for 'indefinite' symptoms. The individual who has flatulent dyspepsia (indigestion with much gas formation) but gives no history of gall stone colic, or of any attack of pain that might be an acutely obstructed gall bladder, and gives no history of jaundice, is better carried along by medical treatment, not surgery. Even if his gall bladder does not empty or fill completely as shown by X-rays, I would let him go on belching and perform no operation. The belching will rarely be changed by removal of gall bladder because this belching is usually due to over-eating, over-drinking, or to emotional disturbance."

The thought then is that belching and pain in the region of the gall bladder should be investigated.

Emotional Factor in Rheumatic Children

Rheumatism receives intensive study in Great Britain because such a large percentage of the population is afflicted. Although the damp climate has much to do with causing and aggravating the symptoms of rheumatism, British physicians give perhaps more thought to the "nervous" or emotional factor in rheumatism than we do here. Of course, all physicians are aware of the factor and of the relation of that nervous element (St. Vitus' Dance) to rheumatism.

In the British Medical Journal, Dr. S. Hobbie states that there are two parts to the rheumatic state in childhood—nervousness and infection. Both are present in differing amounts so that it may be impossible in one child to distinguish any nervous tendency for lack of nervous balance or in another to detect any evidence of infection. In one the emotional factor is most pronounced and infection apparently present or absent after the emotional factor is apparently entirely absent.

As to "growing pains," Dr. Hobbie points out that these pains result not from growth of the body but because of some difficulty attending the growth of the personality of the individual, and it is easier to find evidence of nervous instability than of infection in these cases.

Although many physicians believe that infection is present first and causes the rheumatism with emotional instability following, Dr. Hobbie seems to think that in some instances it is possible that the emotional factor is present first and causes the infection.

There are three strategies to treat this as shown by removing the cause of the child's nervous and emotional state, and by applying first to the rheumatism then second to the nervousness.

The Wrong Time

By R. H. WILKINSON

AT 10:30 on a Thursday night Inspector Les Knox called the apartment of his chief aide, Detective Al Brooks, on the telephone.

"Better hurry down here to the office," Knox said without preamble. "Things are stirring."

Less than twenty minutes later Knox and an excited Detective Brooks were howling along Boylston street in a taxi. They crossed the Fenway and drove out Brookline avenue, turning at length into a narrower and more dimly lighted street. Presently Knox directed the driver to pull up. The two officers climbed out, and the inspector directed the cabbie to wait for them, then led the way back for two blocks in the direction from which they had come.

Mounting the steps to what appeared to be a private dwelling, he pressed the button. The door was opened by a man in his shirt sleeves. Without waiting to be asked, Knox stepped inside, followed by Brooks, and closed the door.

The dim light of the narrow hallway in which they stood revealed their host to be a powerfully built man of about 40 years.

"You're Beech Tomlin, aren't you?" Knox asked. "I've come for the money."

"Money?" Beech Tomlin's eyes narrowed. "If this is a stick-up you're out of luck."

Knox smiled faintly. "Nice setting. Tomlin. But it isn't a stick-up, I'm talking about the money that was in the brown envelope."

For just a moment the big man's eyes wavered. He asserted, "So you're gassin' at it, eh? Well, it wasn't money, see? You can't pull that gag on me, mister. Now get out!"

"Not just yet, Tomlin," Knox's hand came out of his coat pocket, and at sight of the gun which it held, Beech Tomlin blinked. "The jig's up, old boy. There wasn't any envelope, and you know it. No more than there was in New York or Buffalo. Best thing you can do is toss over that counterfeit dough, or add to the stretch you'll do by resisting arrest and continuing to lie."

It seemed an eternity before the big man shrugged his massive shoulders. "O. K. You win. But damned if I can figure out how you caught on."

Two hours later, back in police headquarters, Detective Brooks was expostulating to the desk sergeant. "It was the dangedest thing I ever saw. Les just shoved a gun under this jigger's nose and told him the game was up. And Tomlin agreed that it must be if Les said so. And now we've knuckled one distributor and laid a trap for the others and incidentally broken up the whole ring. Boy, it's the craziest stunt I ever saw pulled."

Inspector Knox laughed. "But not so crazy as it sounds when you know the facts." He leaned forward. "The reason that Tomlin kicked in without a squawk was simply because he couldn't believe that anyone had caught onto their iron-bound alibi. And when I sprang that one on him about the envelope, it was such a shock he believed anything I told him thereafter."

"As usual, before going home tonight I glanced through the evening papers, and in the classified columns of the Express I ran across an advertisement which said a Beech Tomlin had found a brown envelope on Winter street at 4:30 this afternoon, and that anyone who could identify the valuable contents could have it by calling at the address we visited tonight."

"It sounded all right, except for one thing—something that led me to believe Beech Tomlin didn't expect any one to claim the envelope, which, in turn, promoted the idea that such an envelope never existed. Which assumption proved correct, and resulted rather disastrously for the counterfeit gang. At first, friend Tomlin thought I was just a guy trying to collect something by pointing at the contents of the envelope, which made me more sure than ever I was on the right track."

Detective Brooks leaned forward, grinning. "I get it. If the envelope were found at 4:30 in the afternoon, that fact couldn't be published in the evening edition of any Boston paper. Classified ads have to be received several hours before the sheet goes to press."

Knox nodded. "Precisely. It was a brilliant idea. For if Tomlin were caught with the counterfeit money, he'd say he found it and advertised for the owner, which fact he could prove." He grinned. "They were caught for one of the infernalities of this city."

There are three strategies to treat this as shown by removing the cause of the child's nervous and emotional state, and by applying first to the rheumatism then second to the nervousness.

Fashion Is in Mood for Swank Accessories and Handsome Furs

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THIS is a season when you are supposed to dress up your basic costume with dramatic accessories and stunning fur pieces. If you have been saving a choice bit of fur, thinking that sometimes it might be used to trim a suit or fashion a hat, now's the time to hand it over to your furrier or your milliner. Tell her to make you up something fetching in the way of handbag, hat, scarf or muff to wear with your suit or coat, your one-piece dress or your loveliest evening gown.

Don't throw away the finest swath of fur, for even the most insignificant little piece can be fashioned into a cunning bow to wear on the lapel of your cloth coat, or to pin on the pocket of your tweed jacket. If you are clever you can make your own little fur novelties out of bits of seal, Persian lamb, mink or gray lamb.

There's lots doing this winter among designers who vie with each other as to who can turn out the most strikingly original ideas in hat and muff or hat and bag sets, and special emphasis is being placed upon the importance of stole-like neckpieces.

Best dressed women regard a stole of choice fur as being a necessary luxury this season, be it of the simple type to wear with one's smart tailor, or the more elaborate sort for evening wear. Of the latter sort is the exquisite white fox fur which imparts drama to the lovely white gown centered in the illustration. That fashion is in a mood for swank accessories is seen in the hair ornament made of strands of white satiny glass beads. Following the Chinese influence, it is balanced at each side, as if in salute to our ally.

With a gray suit, milady to the left in the picture wears a black scarf fox turban and a stole that converts into a muff. It may be worn as a scarf with the ends forming a muff, or it can be carried as a muff with long stole ends. This scarf-muff novelty, so practical and so wearable, is typical of the clever things being done with fur.

The suit itself is a two-piece of gray wool soft as rabbit's fur. An especially important style message is conveyed in the black silk braid that trims the pocket and front of the five-button high-closing jacket. Chapters could be written in regard to the lavish use of braid trimming, as it appears this season on dresses, hats, bags and coats. Even the cuffs of gloves are braided. You can buy neat little cuff-and-collar sets that are silver braided, which are nice to have in reserve when you need a touch to make an old dress look new.

Ensemble sets of black velvet which are quite the rage this season team "this and that" together in such fascinating "sets" as the huge black velvet bag, hat and gauntlet glove combination pictured in the group. The hat has a lace trim piped in velvet. The bag is enormous, as most bags are this year.

You can do a lot with a little when it comes to even a few inches of black velvet. For instance, you can make a little velvet patch pocket, and in jet beads trace your initials thereon. Display this as a breast pocket on your simple black daytime dress. It is well to have a big velvet bow in your accessory collection, for these bows are worn like a corsage, sometimes with a glittering brooch or clip. Perfect for dinner and dancing with the new short evening gowns, is the accessory set shown in the inset. The fact that it is in black and white is significant, for again a sudden flair for black and white springs up in fashion circles. The hat is of white fox fur, trimmed with black wings. A black and white fox muff complements the hat.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Braid-Trimmed Hats

Best of the new winter hats being fallings of braid-trimmed hats. Perfect for wear with tailored clothes is a hat of gray felt as shown above. It is very unusual because of the fact that it is trimmed with black braid, which is big news. The rugos for braid trim is becoming increasingly noticeable and more designers are working toward one of braiding this trend on evening dress pieces and more to handbags and hats. The high peaked crown of the hat shown above is quite unusual.

Lapel Pins Are Made Of Colored Leather

Birds and animals are being copied in miniature done in gay leathers for the newest lapel pins. Birds of paradise are in gold kid trimmed with scallops of green and red and finished off with a single real feather. A flamingo spreads long pink tail feathers, its plumage made of fragments of kid. The parrot is the saniciest specimen of all, done in green leather with yellow and red contrasts. This new leather jewelry also includes animals, such as a big white leather strou horse, a toy elephant and so on. School-girls like to wear these on their jackets or at the necklines of their smart long sweaters.

Collar and Cuffs Now Get Designers' Attention

Not long since it was pockets that were featured as the center of attraction in coat dress and blouse styling. But if you will take sharp note as you wander through fashion displays you will observe that it is collar and cuffs upon which designers are now focusing their creative genius. It will be interesting to keep tabs on this movement. A dress, for instance, will be most trimming except for glittering sequin collar and cuffs. Now too, are the braided collar and cuff sets.

Lace-Trimmed Coats

Both small and brilliant velvet hats are being ingeniously trimmed with lace that brings beautifully to girls' attention. These black velvet leathers are most alluring and the lace and beaded trim with their intricate lace lines draped or bunched of shirred Chantilly are most alluring.

Lesson subject and Scripture text as follows: Matthew 23:1-12

TRUTHFULNESS AT ALL TIMES

Lesson text: Matthew 23:1-12

God hates all kinds of dishonesty—a fact which is emphasized by the additional commandment regarding truthfulness which is before us in this lesson.

God is truth, that is, the very essence of His nature is truth. In Him is no dishonesty at all (1 John 1:5). Lying is a character opposite to God. Hence we are not surprised to find in our lesson that Satan is a liar and the father of lies, and that there are his children.

I. The Nature of a Lie (Exod. 20:16; Matt. 5:37).

The commandment against false witness brings before us one form of lying—for it has to do with perjury, that is, the telling of an untruth in court.

This is one of the worst forms of lying, because it may result in the one against whom it is practiced losing his liberty, his life or his property. It may mean the destruction of his good reputation.

It is obvious, however, that the commandment covers all forms of lying, whether in business, in social contacts, in the home, or in the church. We might do well to consider what the Bible has to say about whisperers, talebearers, backbiters, and others (see Lev. 19:16; 1 Cor. 12:20). A man's reputation may be as easily ruined by a whispered lie over the back fence or the luncheon table as by formal perjury in the courtroom. "Thou shalt not bear false witness" at any time, anywhere, or in any way.

II. The Practice of Lying (Matt. 5:37).

The people of our Lord's day (and who can say that the custom has stopped) were in the habit of telling lies and then trying to make others believe them by an oath.

They would swear by heaven, or the throne of God, or some other sacred thing, and thus try to enforce their false word by some great authority.

The liar is always under necessity of doing something—perhaps telling another lie—to cover his falsehood. When his comfort or advantage seems to be endangered because he is not believed, he brings an oath to bear upon his statement.

Jesus taught the great virtue of simple living and simple speech. A plain "yes" or "no" is usually sufficient for the situation. Qualifying words are apt to lead us astray. The life of a Christian should be so true and above board that no oath should be needed to assure one of his sincerity and honesty.

Since not all are Christians, it is a necessity that men be placed under some kind of oath or affirmation in judicial matters. Hence we need not interpret this Scripture as forbidding an oath in court.

It may be well to say a word about swearing in general. It is all too common among men, women and children. No Christian should ever be guilty of it, or that which sounds like it. We need admonition and correction at that point.

III. The Source of All Lies (John 8:44).

The devil is a liar, and the father of lies. Liars are members of his family. Jesus said it, "Ye are of your father the devil."

Liars had better consider their "family tree" and see how they like their spiritual father. He is lustful, murderous, and there is no truth in him (v. 44). If you belong to that family would you not like to change families and be born again into God's family?

Badly enough the constant lying of the world seems to have infected the minds and hearts of Christians. Instead of being cleansed from the worldly tendencies they carry its awful tendencies into the church. Is it not too true that gossip (which is almost always lying), false witness, the tearing down of someone's good name, is all too common in the church?

The great lie within the church, and one of Satan's prime weapons, is the fabrication of modern religious liberalism (so-called) which is essentially a denial of real New Testament Christianity. Jesus said (v. 44) that if God is our Father we will accept Him as the Christ. The one who speaks moral words about the example, the method, the leadership of the Master and who denies that His place as God is clearly in mind here as a follower of the Father of lies.

None that in verses 44-47 Jesus challenges the enemies to correct Him of sin or of falsehood. His one lie was being able to meet that challenge.

Say it with DEEDS ...not words

WE IN AMERICA have a lot to be thankful for this year. This is the one great nation that has not been laid waste by war.

Our boys are fighting in the jungles of the South Seas and in the villages of Italy that our own Main Streets may not become battle fields. By their sacrifices they have held the warfront thousands of miles beyond our shoreline. They deserve our deepest gratitude—a gratitude we should express in work rather than in words.

Let's back up these fighting men in a very practical way. Today there is a great shortage of pulpwood. Pulpwood has a thousand-and-one war uses—from explosives to shipping containers.

And since this is a pulpwood-cutting community, we have been asked to cut an extra cord of pulpwood in honor of every local boy in service.

This is a small thing to ask of us—small in comparison with what our boys are doing. One extra cord for every boy who went to war from the pulpwood areas will be enough to meet the present shortage.

So let's resolve to meet our quota—and make sure that no boy dies because we failed.

LET'S KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK

THIS community has every right to be proud of the way it is meeting the appeal for more pulpwood. We are proving that we can get out the wood. Now let's keep it coming!

This war isn't won yet—not by a long shot. Our boys will be fighting for quite a while. They will be needing ammunition, food, medical supplies—and all these things that are shipped in paperboard containers are made from pulpwood.

Pulpwood is our wartime job. Pulpwood can still be a bottleneck, holding up America's war effort. Our responsibility is to see that it does not. No boy shall die because we have failed.

CORRECT PELT HANDLING MEANS BETTER PRICES!

It is our responsibility to make full use of, and get maximum value from, the natural resources at our disposal. The rich American fur crop provides a source of income to those in all parts of the country who are interested in harvesting it. If furs are worth trapping at all, certainly they are worth the time and effort needed to prepare them properly, so that they will bring you maximum cash returns! The mark and skin pelt shown give eloquent testimony to this creed. The fact that the recently handled skins brought from $1.00 to $7.00 more per foot than the incorrectly prepared ones, indicates that careful pelt handling pays. By taking the pains to follow pelt handling standards, you are preparing the goods you have to sell in the manner in which the user prefers. It is easier for him to make up uniforms, hats when all parts are shaped correctly. Thus, you are following the standards preferred by your customer—the manufacturer of fur garments. By doing that, you aim at TOP prices for your skins! At the same time, you are protecting your pelts from spoiling. Insufficiently dried skins, or those which have too much fat left, are likely to reach the market in a tainted condition. Naturally, such furs bring considerably less money.

CHRIST'S NEW COMMANDMENT

CHRIST'S NEW COMMANDMENT—John 13:34-35. "That ye love one another, as I have loved you, that ye also love one another."

The "new commandment" which Christ gave was not a new law, but a new principle of love. It is the love of God and of our neighbor. This commandment of love was given to us by Christ when He was on the cross. It is the love that binds us together as a church and as a people.

Our Lord Jesus Christ has given us a new commandment. It is the love of God and of our neighbor. This commandment of love was given to us by Christ when He was on the cross. It is the love that binds us together as a church and as a people.

There is a great love that is the foundation of the Christian life. It is the love of God and of our neighbor. This commandment of love was given to us by Christ when He was on the cross. It is the love that binds us together as a church and as a people.

Love is the greatest power in all the world. It is the power of life. It is the power that binds us together as a church and as a people. It is the power that binds us together as a church and as a people.

Troop Movement Job Equals 46 World Trips for Every Person In Pocahontas County

Taking all of Pocahontas County's 15,000 people around the world in sleeping cars nearly at their own expense is a tremendous undertaking, yet that is actually about the size of the troop movement job reported today by the Pullman Company. Since Pearl Harbor, Pullman has carried about 14,000 troops a distance of more than 15 billion passenger miles in its sleeping cars, the company reports. These figures are said to cover mass military movements since, and do not include the heavy travel of distinguished men and officers. Many of the legs from Pocahontas County are accounted for all parts of the country, and getting their Pullman rides, according to George A. Kelly, vice president of the company. Most of them are making the return trips by Pullman, as the military training program of the armed services necessitates that many moves or more prior to embarkation for ports abroad, he said. In addition, the army and navy believe in all the world possible for the members of the armed forces, he declared, and about two-thirds of all military movements as well are by Pullman sleepers. Pullman is now carrying more than 50,000 troops every month in mass movements, it is recalled by Mr. Kelly, who pointed out that in addition to the heavy and steadily increasing military passenger business, civilians travel itself is also at a record-breaking rate. He believes that Pullman's passenger-mile volume for 1943 may exceed the 1942 all-time high of 16 billion by 10 or more per cent. "The military and civilian passenger business of Pullman and the railroads today is so heavy," Kelly said, "that there is unfortunately little margin left for some of the conventional services enjoyed by passengers. There is today no wartime service, and by their understanding and tolerance of this fact, customers can help us greatly in the performance of our vital job."

December 1, 1943. Mr. Aubrey E. Ferguson, Soon-to-Be Fighter, Marlinton, W. Va.

DEAR "REV.": I DIDN'T suppose a guy WHO IS an editor, printer AND PREACHER all in one WOULD BE drafted. BUT I hear YOU'RE ON your way IN a few days SO HAVE a good time AND CONVERT the army WHILE YOU'RE AWAY—I'D BEEN told A NEWSPAPER was important TO A community's morale AND IN a case like yours WHERE YOU'RE THE WHOLE show IT DOES look as if THAT WOULD have BEEN CONSIDERED BUT I know nothing BEFORE YOU were drafted OF THE workings OF DRAFT boards AND IT'S possible THE MEMBERS of the board TOOK A look at Alma AND DECIDED maybe she COULD GET OUT A BETTER newspaper THAN YOU could AND NOW she's going TO GET that opportunity—I DON'T blame you FOR CLOSING up the shop AND ARRANGING to get THE PAPER printed elsewhere BECAUSE THE kind of printers YOU COULD get today MIGHT LEAVE the place IN SUCH a mess YOU NEVER would recover—ITS TOO bad Alma's tastes RUN TO the aesthetic OR DO I mean artistic, SINCE SHE could hit SOME PRETTY high notes THE LAST time I heard her, FOR IF you had STARTED HER in SETTING TYPE and FEEDING the press WHEN YOU first WENT TO Marlinton SHE MIGHT have been ready TO TAKE over now AND YOU could have saved A LOT of expense—INCIDENTALLY I hope YOU WILL give her SOME GOOD sound advice ABOUT the editorials SHE CAN commit WHILE YOU'RE AWAY BECAUSE SHE is A PRETTY lousy Republican AND IF somebody GETS HER all enthused THERE'S NO telling WHAT SHE might print—AS FOR you I don't BELIEVE ITS necessary TO GIVE you any advice SINCE YOU'VE resisted THE CORRUPTING influence OF DR. Cpl. Price so long THAT YOU may be CHARGED UP as immune—ITS NEVER safe TO TAKE chances, though, SO ALWAYS be careful—WILLYUM.

Tax Collectors Will Aid Farmers In Filing Returns

F. Roy Yoke, United States Collector of Internal Revenue for the District of West Virginia, today announced that deputy collectors will be at the Alpine Hotel in Marlinton, West Virginia, on December 14, between the hours of 10 A. M. and 5:00 P. M., and on December 15, between the hours of 8 A. M. and 5 P. M., to assist taxpayers in the preparation of Declaration of Estimated Income and Victory Tax Returns due to be filed not later than December 15, 1943, as required by the Current Tax Payment Act.

The filing of a Declaration not later than December 15 is required of the following:

1. Farmers who have sufficient income to require filing—(See 3-a)—and have postponed filing under the special provisions of law which permit farmers to wait as late as December 15.
- (A farmer is one who derives at least 80 per cent of his gross income from the operation of a stock, dairy, poultry, fruit or truck farm, or plantation, ranch, nursery, range or orchard.)
2. Persons who did file in September but underestimated their tax by more than 20 per cent and who should therefore, file "amended declarations" to avoid penalties. (These returns should be marked "AMENDED" at the top of the form for the purpose of ready identification.)
3. Persons who did not file in September because their estimated income at that time was insufficient to require filing but now come within any one of the following classes:
 - (a) Anyone who expects to have during the calendar year 1943 more than $100 gross income from a source outside of wages which are subject to withholding and who also expects sufficient gross income to require filing an income tax return ($500 for a single person, $1,200 for a married couple, or $624 for an individual married person).
 - (b) Any single person expecting wages of more than $2,700 during the year.
 - (c) Any married person or any married couple expecting individually or together more than $3,500 from wages during the year.
 - (d) Any person who was required to file an income tax return for 1942 and who expects his wages in 1943 to be less than in 1942.

Taxpayers who filed declarations in September and paid one-half of the tax estimated to be due will receive bills from Collector Yoke for the balance due on or about December 1. Should any in this group ascertain that their previous estimate and computation of tax has been overstated, an amended declaration reducing the tax can also be filed. It should be accompanied by the bill and a remittance for any revised amount due. Failure to meet the requirements of the Current Tax Payment Act will subject taxpayers to severe penalties.

OUTSTANDING records of achievement in 4-H wartime production and conservation projects, conducted by the Extension Service, have won state championship honors for five West Virginia club members. As a reward, each will receive an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 28-Dec. 1. The five trip winners are:

KATHLEEN REEDER, 21, of Alexandria, is the state's highest scoring participant in the 1943 National 4-H Canning Achievement contest, for which Key Glass Mfg. Corp. provides the awards. RUTH WOODS, 20, of Moundsville, received the Montgomery Ward trip award for her "all around" 4-H girls' record. During 11 years in club work, she sewed and remodeled 54 garments, baked 42 batches of breads and pastries, made 43 home improvment articles, and donated 1,300 tons in a forestry project, as well as completed 15 projects, and served 5 years as club president.

Twenty-nine college scholarships, totaling $5,000, provided by the same donors, are awarded the national winners in the above contests.

MEMBER OF THE MASTER RACE

THESE captured members of The Master Race are bitter and broken in spirit. Hypnotized by promises of power and glory, they gave up every human freedom to follow a fanatic paperhanger. They fell upon the world and almost crushed it. But not quite. The "decadent" democracies rallied around the banner of liberty. Free peoples applied the dynamics of free enterprise to the grim business of war—and accomplished production miracles. The sullen slaves of the swastika have come up against a force they cannot master or comprehend. It is independence—the common heritage of Americans. Freedom of religion, speech, thought and individual enterprise. The right and opportunity of every American, within reasonable limits, to enjoy the rewards that his own work may bring. This is the force that made America great. It is devoted today to the needs of all-out war. It must not be lost when the war is won.

R. J. Fankhauser Featured in Magazines

Announcing a feature story on R. J. Fankhauser, which appeared last week, the Saturday Evening Post magazine had this to say about the West Virginia business man:

"West Virginia Republicans last year worked with a start. One day after election in find they had some within a handful of votes of nominating Raymond J. Fankhauser to the United States Senate."

"Fankhauser (Post author) showed a new and decisive political figure (Fankhauser) in the story 'FANKHAUSER IN A HURRY'."

The Post headed the story that "the indicated Mr. Fankhauser is not out to capture the governorship in 1934 and next success."

Though Fankhauser had not announced his candidacy for the governorship, it is assumed in these quarters that he will run. The number of copies of the magazine which is distributed in West Virginia was noticeably increased for this issue. This is the first time in many years that a West Virginia political situation and personality have achieved national prominence.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Crackers and Chowder Harmonize! (See Recipes Below)

Soup Satisfies

There's not one dish in my cook-book repository that has even come close to fill the place of soup. It can be the appetite-tickler to start the meal, or a light, appetizing accompaniment to do for lunch, tea, or a steaming hot, sturdy soup to be the meat, the vegetable and the main dish for a cool night's dinner while the wind blows hard outside.

If any crisis arises as far as your own pocket rather than stomach, then start exploring the fascinating possibilities of a few hearty soups, caters leaves, pungent onions, and a spray of parsley, chives, marjoram or dillweed. Fat, rosy portions of soup will ward off any hunger now as they have always done when food supplies are slender.

There's no doubt that the person will again become a part of your kitchen equipment—at least for the duration. You can make delicious soup out of almost anything—and soup can make the meal if you serve it with plenty of unrationed crackers. There are literally all kinds of these to go with any soup you care to name.

Here's a fish chowder that is rich, savory and thoroughly satisfying. Serve it with common or pilot crackers to make the meal. Or, if you prefer, oyster crackers, the round lady type, saltines or plain soda crackers—any one will be a natural accompaniment.

"Fish Chowder," (Serves 8)

3 pounds haddock or cod
 2 potatoes, sliced
 2 medium-sized onions, chopped
 3 slices salt pork, diced
 2 crackers
 1 quart milk
 1 pint cream
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 Salt and pepper

Cook fish in boiling water until done. Remove fish from water and cook potatoes and onion in fish water until soft. Fry salt pork until crisp. Skin and bone fish and add with pork scraps, to chowder. Soak split crackers in milk. Heat milk and cream with crackers, and add to chowder. Add butter or margarine, salt and pepper.

Here is another savory soup which will make a perfect main dish for the meal:

Tomato Bisque, (Serves 6)

4 cups milk
 1/2 cup stale bread crumbs
 2 1/2 cups canned tomatoes
 1 small onion
 6 cloves
 1/2 teaspoon soda
 2 teaspoons sugar
 4 tablespoons butter or margarine

Four the scalded milk over the bread crumbs and rub through a sieve. Blend the tomatoes with the seasonings and strain. To the tomatoes, in which the soda has been dissolved, add the reheated milk mixture, and last the sugar and butter mixture. Serve at once.

A delicious bean soup has been many a cook's road to fame. It's not difficult at all if you make it this way:

Black Bean Soup, (Serves 12)

1 pound black beans
 2 cloves
 2 sprigs thyme or 1 bayleaf
 2 quarts water
 1 onion, chopped
 1 ham bone or 1/2 pound salt pork or 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
 Dash of salt

Soak beans overnight in cold water. Rinse and drain beans well. Place in kettle with rest of ingredients. Bring to a boil and let simmer 4 hours. Add more water from time to time, if necessary. Put through sieve and serve with slices of ham and sliced hard-cooked egg.

MARLINTON WEST VIRGINIA

Lynn Says:

The Sore Card: Now that butter has gone up in point value, you may have to learn to use other spreads such as margarine. Be sure to select a margarine that gives you a definite guarantee of the amount of vitamin with which it is enriched. To color the margarine, let it soften until smooth and creamy, add vegetable coloring and blend together. Let harden before using, if you want to cut it in squares.

Butter can also be stretched with a number of commercial or other stretchers. Select a stretcher that gives good consistency and does not change flavor.

If you're doing without a great deal of butter, here's how: Use margarine or shortenings for all cooking or baking. Save butter and other drippings to use for frying. Occasionally use tallow, lard and tallow for spreads. Margarine can be spread with convenience if the butter supply is low.

Lynn Chambers' Pain-Killing Menu

*Fish Chowder with Crackers
 *Creamed Onion Soup
 *Crispy Omelet

Scotch Broth, (Serves 10)

1 cup dried barley
 2 cup onion, split peas
 1/2 pound fresh chives
 1 tablespoon salt
 2 quarts water
 2 leeks or onions, chopped
 2 carrots, sliced small
 1 turnip, sliced small
 1 pound cabbage, sliced
 4 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
 1 carrot, grated

Soak peas and barley overnight, in separate bowls. Place leek, onion in a large soup-spoon, add salt and cold water to cover. Bring to a boil and simmer 1 hour. Add leeks, carrots, turnip, cabbage, peas and barley. Simmer 1 hour. Add parsley and grated carrot. Stir well and serve.

Potatoes and onion are going to be in soup. Carry the harmony even further and serve with the soup, the round, lassy type of cracker.

Cream of Potato and Onion Soup, (Serves 6)

4 onions
 4 medium-sized potatoes
 2 tablespoons flour
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 2 cups scalded milk
 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
 Salt and pepper

Boil onions and potatoes together until tender. Drain, saving 1 cup of the water. Rub the vegetables through a coarse strainer. Melt the butter or margarine, add flour and blend until smooth. Add milk and potato-onion water, and combine with onion and potato pulp. Season with chopped parsley, salt and pepper. Beat with egg beater and serve at once.

Did you know that a cheese type of cracker is best with the tomato soups? It brings out the flavor of the soup better than any other kind of accompaniment.

Tomato Bisque, (Serves 6)

4 cups milk
 1/2 cup stale bread crumbs
 2 1/2 cups canned tomatoes
 1 small onion
 6 cloves
 1/2 teaspoon soda
 2 teaspoons sugar
 4 tablespoons butter or margarine

Four the scalded milk over the bread crumbs and rub through a sieve. Blend the tomatoes with the seasonings and strain. To the tomatoes, in which the soda has been dissolved, add the reheated milk mixture, and last the sugar and butter mixture. Serve at once.

A delicious bean soup has been many a cook's road to fame. It's not difficult at all if you make it this way:

Black Bean Soup, (Serves 12)

1 pound black beans
 2 cloves
 2 sprigs thyme or 1 bayleaf
 2 quarts water
 1 onion, chopped
 1 ham bone or 1/2 pound salt pork or 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
 Dash of salt

Soak beans overnight in cold water. Rinse and drain beans well. Place in kettle with rest of ingredients. Bring to a boil and let simmer 4 hours. Add more water from time to time, if necessary. Put through sieve and serve with slices of ham and sliced hard-cooked egg.

In Memoriam

Boyer, W. Va., Dec. 2, 1943.

In memory of my father, Mr. Frank Snyder, who passed away in 1943:
I have no Mother and Father Now.
I hear the soft wind sighing
Through every bush and tree,
Where now their forms are lying
Away from love, and me
Tears from mine eyes are starting
And sorrow shades my brow;
Oh! weary was our party—
I have no mother and father now.

I see the pale moon shining
Upon the white headstones—
The rose bush round them twining
Is here like me alone
And just like me is weeping
Those dew drops from the bough
A long time have they been sleeping,
I have no mother and father now.

My heart is every lonely
My life is drear and sad,
Tears their dear presence only
That made my spirit glad;
From morning until even,
Care rests upon my brow,
They are gone from me to heaven,
I have no mother and father now.
Their Daughter
MRS. CARRIE REXRODE.

Private Dedford Hunter McCarty, absentee of the U. S. Army, A. S. N. 35429115, Co. A, Jackson Barracks, New Orleans, La., was captured last week at the home of his brother, Frank McCarty, near Frost, at 10:15 p. m. by Corp. W. W. Murphy and 1st Sgt. J. W. Wooddell of Elkins. COUNTY SOLDIERS WOUNDED

The war department this week announced a list of 300 West Virginia service men who have been wounded in action. Three were from Pocahontas County, as follows:

Corpl. Roy W. Hall, son of Mrs. J. Hall, of Hillsboro.

Corpl. George D. Thomas, son of George C. Thompson of Mill Point.

SAVE YOUR HOLDERS.

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—If West Virginia hunters want to be sure of having metal holders next year for their hunting licenses they had better save the ones they now have, Conservation Director Jack Shipman has warned. The commission was able to obtain only part of the number it needed this year, he said, and he believed the situation might be worse next year. If hunters will preserve their present holders for re-use, though, the scarcity problem may be met, he stated. The metal used in the holders is an essential in war industries.

Preston Educator Will Seek Post of State School Head

Shaffer was encouraged by the fact that his candidacy will be supported by educators. Representative school people from approximately half of the counties of the state held a caucus during the convention of the State Education Association in Charleston and after considering possible Republican candidates for state superintendent of schools, none of whom were present, unanimously agreed to support and work for the election of Kenneth W. Shaffer.

For his educational training Mr. Shaffer attended a one-room school—six years, graded elementary school, Victory High School, Salem College, A. B. degree—West Virginia University, M. A. degree in educational administration—Columbia University and graduate work—Harvard University.

Deer Season Ends

The deer season ended in Pocahontas County last Saturday with the killing of several hundred deer. The season was tracked down game in this territory and it was reported by Conservation Commission representatives who controlled the area that the number of illegal killings was comparatively small.

Four men from Sissonville were arrested by Warden Hill Renick and Wayne Stalnaker for hunting in closed territory.

Out at Sisson State Forest it was necessary to close the season the first day, when 48 deer were killed, making the quota allowed for that season.

HUNTING VIOLATIONS

Four men who were found hunting in closed territory near Hill Renick, were arrested by Warden Hill Renick and fines were assessed.

In the Rimel section, Warden In-Carper arrested a man for hunting deer with buckshot.

A case is pending against five men who participated in the killing and possession of a spiked buck with un-branched horns, in the Dry Branch area. Warrants have been issued for the hunters.

Who Owns the Railroads?

BIG BANKERS? With white ribbing on their vests? And heavy loops of gold watch chain?

Guess again! Think of a small brick house in a whole row of brick houses in a large city in Ohio or Illinois. Think of a large stone mansion on a Pennsylvania hillside, a place for old folks to go to when they're left alone in the world. Think of hospitals in Indiana and Wisconsin, colleges in Virginia and Washington, insurance companies in New York, and Massachusetts and Minnesota.

Think of a cross-section of American life. Now you're getting warm. If ever there was a public property—in the sense of widespread ownership—it's our American railroads.

Here are the facts about a typical railroad—the Chesapeake and Ohio.

275,083 shares of its stock are owned by colleges, hospitals, churches, charitable institutions and insurance companies.

40,496 of its common stockholders own 50 shares or less. These represent approximately 70 per cent of the total common stockholders.

These people live in every state of the union and in its territories. They come from nearly every walk of life, and include employees of the road, teachers, lawyers, business men, stenographers, farmers, men in the Army and Navy—people who live "just around the corner" from you.

In some countries the people have not been enterprising enough to build and maintain their own railroads. And the government has had to do it for them. With us the citizen and not the state has been the force behind our railroads. We have preferred the progress that comes from free competition to the stagnation that accompanies political patronage and bureaucracy.

This system has worked. In the face of the greatest emergency ever to strike this country, the railroads of America have proved more able than ever before to meet the task imposed on them. With consideration for their welfare in the future, they will meet post-war tasks in the same way.

In short, the railroads could be in no better hands than in the hands of the American people. For they, in the long run, must be served.

MARLINTON, WEST VIRGINIA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1943

PRICE: $1.50 A YEAR

IT Impresses ME

TO WILLYUM,
Eminent Columnist,
Angel of the Weeklies,
(and no foolin').

DEAR WILLYUM:

In much of our association you have been like a big brother to me—you know, exemplifying a sort of "don't do as I do, but as I say" attitude—and in many of the things you have told me I have discovered the essence of wisdom. Being the husband of a red head yourself, you have obtained a keen insight into many of the experiences which have fallen to my lot. And being something of a wizard linotype keys, you are able to have an intimate knowledge of my present predicament. I enclose your recent letter, but I must admit that I found it, in some ways, contradictory. For instance, you told me to "have a good time and convert the Army while you are away." If I should undertake to do the former, Alma would probably try to bring me home; and if I should give my earnest endeavor to the latter effort—it would certainly put a curb on some of the soldiers' present intentions to have a good time. As far as leaving Alma to run the paper is concerned, I have an apprehension on that score—you know her well enough to realize that she has been telling me how to run it for two years now, so she should be able to fall into that role pretty easily. It is true that I don't know just where my fling for political participation may lead her, but having received her early training in this phase under Mrs. Charles Smiley and Miss Cora Archibald, and conducting such dignitaries as Judge Summers Shrap and Hon. H. Roy Waight around over Harrison County, she should have learned some political tact by now—at least enough to know that politics is one sphere of human life where it is absolutely certain that everyone is not going to agree with you. The only condition here is that I am leaving her at a time when it bids fair that she will get more agreement on her side of the political fence than she has been used to for many a moon. But there are some who will not agree with that, either, so I guess I better not get involved in it too deeply. We have made an agreement that if either one of us does not like the position into which the war has thrown us, respectively, we, as God-fearing, peace-loving men into the role of a fighter, and Alma, singer of "West Virginia Day" at the Chicago World's Fair, entertainer at state business conventions, star of the show, and leader of impromptu speeches at veterans' meetings, into whatever newspaper operation, that we will not write our views to each other. I understand that agreement is going to be quite a break for me, though I may likely be able to guess enough to do so when I receive my copy of the Journal each week. As to my own side of the matter, Willyum, you will be able to know and story the "apprehensions" that I bring within "meat" of a man who has been married for eight or ten years. It sure brings home the fact that we are fighting this war for liberty. If you are what I mean? After the mental picture of myself in uniform that I have constructed it certainly would be a disappointment if I should not be permitted to see you all the other members of the family. I will give you a chance to see me by some time in New Year's time. I am getting in trying to be ready to go to the front, and I will accept that. I don't know how long I will be there, but I am getting in trying to be ready to go to the front, and I will accept that. I don't know how long I will be there, but I am getting in trying to be ready to go to the front, and I will accept that.

WORLD'S BIGGEST "MAKE-UP" JOB UNGILDS THE LILY

When a crew of mountain climbers recently set out to "make-up" 50 square miles of mountains for a movie, they were told their job was to "ungild the lily." The picture was to be taken in technicolor, which emphasizes yellow. The make-up job, therefore, was to subdue the yellow in the cliffs, trees, bushes, flowers and shrubs. Instead of the usual make-up kit of cosmetics, these photographic experts shouldered spray guns filled with Texolite, a paint that is mixed with water, that dries quickly and which can be tinted to any hue desired. They went hiking about, peering through a little spectrum wheel, hunting for whatever looks yellow. Then they would spray it with the proper shade of Texolite. This gigantic "make-up" job was done in the High Sierras, which were chosen as the location of the picture because it looks so much like the Guadarrama Range in Spain, where the story of Paramount's new picture, "For Whom The Bell Tolls" is centered.

Funkhouser Announces For Governor

THE FOLLOWING TELEGRAM WAS RECEIVED TUESDAY

A. E. FERGUSON, The Journal, Marlinton, West Virginia.

CHARLESTON, Dec. 19.—At a regular meeting of the Jefferson County Republican Club and in answer to the club chairman, R. J. Funkhouser announced that he would be a candidate for the governorship of West Virginia in 1944. In a spirited speech frequently interrupted by applause of the largest gathering of Jefferson County Republicans witnessed in years, Funkhouser said: "Mr. Link and my friends in Jefferson County, I will answer your question, and in so doing, I serve notice on four men in this state that the Republican party does not owe me anything, but the Republican party does owe our nation and state good clean government, and in the name of the Republican party, I now announce my candidacy for Governor, and solemnly pledge our party to fully discharge its obligations to all the people of our great state. This party is not obligated to any individual as a party. We are neither requested or expected to put some person in office because a small clique wants to maintain itself in power. I say, the Republican party does not owe them or me anything....But we are all very much indebted to our party and all of us would do well if we were more interested in our party and states and less interested in our own personal aggrandizement.

"I hope to see this great state firmly and permanently registered to a government directed wholly by the people, not a gang of professional politicians operating behind the scene. Even before I enter the gate that leads to the governorship, wolves in sheep's clothing prove to be real wolves. Four men—three Republicans and one New Dealer—have been threatening me with destruction. If I even dare to be a candidate they will blackmail me, they will hang me, they will tear me apart limb from limb, they will utterly destroy me, or so they say. Well, I am going to accept their challenge and not only enter the gate to be consumed by these wolves, but I am going all the way unafraid, because the people of West Virginia will be marching with me."

Funkhouser listed 13 points on which his platform will be built. . . . And I close with a note of a Republican sweep in '44."

Dennis D. Link, Republican county chairman, then rose to urge the Republicans throughout the state to rally behind Funkhouser as the party's unanimous choice, thereby presenting the strongest of united fronts to the New Deal Democrats in the final election.

(Signed) DENNIS D. LINK,
Republican Chairman, Jefferson County.

Mower Lumber Company Honors New Manager

More than seven hundred people attended the Christmas party last Tuesday night at the Mower Lumber Company Store in Cass.

The party was to honor H. H. Thompson, the new manager of the store. Mr. Thompson came to Cass from Clarkburg, after sixteen successful years with a large concern there.

Show windows of the store were decorated in Christmas colors with candles burning, and many things from their fine Christmas stock on display. Also in the window was an honor roll in a picture frame, made from the lumber of the Mower Mill, and the splendid pen work of the names had been done by Howard Fulks.

The interior of the store was decorated in keeping with the yuletide season.

At 8 P. M. the program started with Mrs. F. Edwin Mower welcoming the visitors and introducing Mr. Thompson, who acted as master of ceremonies.

The first entertainer was Miss Lena Anderson, who sang "Remember Pearl Harbor," accompanied by Miss Mary Croner. The group joined in singing the "Star-Spangled Banner."

In the amateur contest which followed many persons took part. Catherine Evans and Charlotte Ann Fulks were the prize winners, singing "Pistol Packin' Mama."

Grover Wright was awarded the $100 bond, Beatrice Stewart, colored, the $50 bond, and Donald Meeks the $25 bond. The judges for the contests were Sheriff Ward Hudson and Editor Aubrey Ferguson.

Folks lingered long after the party was concluded, shaking hands and greeting friends from various sections of the county.

CHRIST THE FULFILLMENT OF THE LAW

LESSON TEXT—Hebrews 1:1-3; Romans 10:4-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—God . . . hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son—Hebrews 1:1,2.

The center of all Christian thinking is the fact that God has revealed Himself to man. This revelation is found in the Bible, for it is the Word of God. That is why the commandments which we have studied in recent weeks speak to us with such authority. They are not the expression of human opinion of how we should live. They are God's command which we are to obey.

The great and final revelation of God and His love was not the written Word—the Bible—but the Living Word—His Son. The coming of Christ is our lesson for next week, on Christmas Sunday. But this week we want to learn a little more of what His coming into the world meant. He was—

I. God's Last Word (Heb. 1:1-3).

Through the ages God had been speaking through the prophets, constantly revealing Himself as a God of power, justice, holiness, truth and mercy.

In different ways and at various times (v. 1) He spoke through them, but always there was a pointing forward to the One who should come. Abraham was called out to found the nation (Gen. 12), and Jacob the family or tribe (Gen. 49), in which He should come. He was to be a prophet like Moses (Deut. 18) and of the kingly house of David (II Sam. 7). All the offerings of Leviticus spoke of His priestly service. Isaiah saw Him as both the reigning and the suffering Messiah (Isa. 53).

All this was incomplete until He came; and when He did, He revealed all the glory of God. He made the perfect and final sacrifice for sin, and sat down (His work was finished) at God's right hand (the place of power).

Let us be clear about this: in Christ God's revelation is perfect and complete. We need look for nothing more. The claims of those who appear with a "new light" or some mysterious hidden power are so obviously untrue that we ought not to be at all interested.

But not only is Christ God's final Word, He is—

II. God's Best Word (Heb. 1:4-9).

The prophets and their messages thrill our souls and move us to more earnest living. But the Christ is our very life as well as our Redeemer.

The angels are God's messengers—mighty and magnificent beings, superior in their way to man (Pa. 8:5). The early church made too much of angels (as do some groups today), but Protestantism of our day has made too little of them. They are great and powerful beings who minister on our behalf and who are honored in the loyal service they do for God.

But when they stand beside the Son of God, it becomes evident that He holds a place of incomparable glory and majesty. He is the highest revelation of God, the best Word that God could have spoken to needy and sinful humanity.

We do well to think of who Christ is and what He has done. Just in this passage from Hebrews we find that He is the express image of all of God's glory; He is the upholder of all creation; He has the place of honor and power at God's right hand; He is the only begotten of the Father; His throne has been established forever, and so on.

How well nigh unbelievable that this glorious One is also our Saviour. This is stated in verse 3, but is developed in our next point.

III. God's Saving Word (Rom. 10:4-10).

If sinful man were only permitted to look on His glory it would be a great privilege, but it would not help him in his desire for holiness and eternal joy. There was a "great gulf fixed" between sinful man and a holy God until the Son of glory became the God-man, when the eternal Word became "flesh and dwelt among us" (Luke 2:14).

Christ as our Saviour is the "end of the law" to the believer (v. 4), not in the sense that He terminates the law by setting it aside, but by completing or fulfilling all of its requirements.

Just so the Christian is set free from the law, not in order that he may disobey it, but that he may keep it in the power and grace which Christ gives him. The Ten Commandments are the law of life for the Christian because he loves the Lord Jesus Christ and wants to obey Him. We do the things which the Decalogue require not to be saved thereby, but because we thereby honor the name of our Saviour.

The unbeliever, struggling under the burden of sin, says, "How can I come to know Him?" and we find the answer in verses 8-10. It is "by faith."
